

LE VOLPARE SOAVE 2023

Soave, Italy

ABOUT TOMMASI

Tommasi has proudly presided over Italy's Veneto region for over 120 years, with wines that are both renowned for their superior quality and consistently regarded as reference points for their respective appellations. As one of the single most influential producers in Italy, the winery is committed to sustainable practices and continues to craft each wine from 100% estate-owned vineyards.

THE WINE

Le Volpare comes from the volcanic, basaltic soils of Mount Foscarino in the historic heart of Soave Classico, the hillside Garganega vineyards overlooked by the town's ancient medieval castle. Pale straw yellow in the glass, it opens with acacia blossom and elderflowers before giving way to white-fleshed fruit and a fresh, almond-tinged finish, the ideal companion to seafood crudo, risotto, and beyond.
